(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, May 28.—John L. Lewis' militant steel unit girded on several fronts of a broad Great Lakes steel strike today to tighten strike lines around three major producers who have constantly refused to sign union contracts. Seventy-thousand were idle—47,000 in Ohio and 23,000 more in Chicago's Calumet area, key producing centers of the far-flung major industry which employs upwards of 550,000 workers in its fiery-hot open hearths and blast furnaces. Lofly smokestacks poked emptily skyward from closed mills of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. and the Inland Steel Corp. Many Republic Steel Corp. plants also were shut by husky pickets.

Two Plants Continue
But two big plants of Republic—largest of the three independent producers locked with the Steel Workers Organizing Committee in its greatest test of a year-old organization drive—continued curtailed operations in South Buffalo, N. Y., and South Chicago units.

It was against these that Lewis' steel chieftains mobilized expanded picket resources.

Hugh Thompson, organizer for Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization embracing automobile, garment, mine, rubber and other union workers, declared that 3,000 CIO auto and other unionists would swell picket lines around the South Buffalo mills.

"They will form one of the biggest picket lines this part of the country has ever seen," he said. Pickets mobilized for a fresh drive to close Republic's main Chicago area plant after police broke up two attempts to mass around company gates. Strike leaders expected reinforcements from other plants.

John Mayo, sub-regional director for the SWOC in Youngstown's Mahoning valley area, told a group of strikers near Republic's mills: "Ninety per cent of the battle is over and your work will serve the working man in the generations to come. If you all get out on the picket lines there will not be a drop of bloodshed."

Differs On Claims
Smoke that normally clung black and heavy dwindled to thin scattered wisps in northeastern Ohio's steel centers as Republic claimed it also had units operating at Warren and Canton.

"Previous to the strike Republic had been operating 60 of its open hearth furnaces in plants where strikes were called," the concern said in a statement issued from its general offices at Cleveland, where its four plants employing 7,000 were closed.

"With the steel plants at Warren, Canton, Chicago and Buffalo working, there are a total of 23 open hearths in production," it stated. SWOC sources asserted the number operating was less than one-third of Republic's claim.

The scene was comparatively peaceful as federal intervention

NICK WILL FACE
MURDER CHARGEProsecutor Stouffer Will Ask Death Penalty In Lisbon Shooting

LISBON, May 28.—Notified today that habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of George Nick from the Lima State hospital had been successful, Karl Stouffer, Columbiana county prosecutor, made arrangements immediately for the return of Nick, a former Lisbon man, to stand trial for the first degree murder of Chris Bazaras.

Sheriff Harry L. Gosney is expected to go to Lima Saturday to bring Nick to this county. Prosecutor Stouffer announced today he will ask the death penalty for Nick, who was committed to the Lima State hospital Sept. 26, 1936.

He was adjudged insane after he shot and killed Bazaras here Dec. 10, 1932.

Court history recalls that Nick shot Bazaras because he thought Bazaras was paying attentions to his wife.

The Allen county courthouse at Lima was the scene recently of the hearing to win Nick's release from the hospital. Prosecutor Stouffer was notified today by Assistant Attorney General Frederick V. Cuff that the Allen county common pleas judge had acted in the plaintiff's favor.

Special services at the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church during the month of June will be climaxed by a week's observance of the 20th anniversary of the church's organization in Salem, Rev. George D. Keister, pastor, announced today.

Services Arranged

Three services will be held during the anniversary observance, one on Sunday, June 20; another Wednesday, June 23, and a third Sunday, June 27. The committee in charge of arrangements for anniversary services is composed of Mrs. J. A. Fehr, A. H. Schropp, Mrs. E. A. Hoch, Charles W. Youtz, Galen Greenisen, J. Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Harriet Harris and Miss Martha Schmidt.

The first of the anniversary services will be devoted to Holy Communion celebration and the opening of the anniversary program. The second service on Wednesday will have as its feature a pageant showing steps in the history and life of the congregation and a fellowship program.

The closing service of anniversary week will include a sermon by Rev. J. Paul Harman, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church in Greensburg, Pa., and a musical program by the choir of the St. John's Lutheran church of East Liverpool under the director of its pastor, Rev. P. Eppling Reinartz. Rev. Harman, who will preach at the morning service, served as the second pastor of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church.

Liquidate Organ Debt
Another important service for next month is the note-burning ceremony, celebrating the liquidation of the debt on the church organ, which will be held Sunday, June 6. The committee in charge of this service includes H. E. Smith, Mrs. Celia Greenisen, Mrs. S. H. Kurtz, Miss Ruth Hoch and Miss Hilda Franke.

Children's day services will be held at the church Sunday, June 13.

The graduation, as a result, will mark the disbanding, temporarily, at least, of a group of Salem boys who have played and studied together for eight years—four in Salem High and four at Wittenberg.

Catholic Parish
In County Seat May Build New Church

LISBON, May 28.—Catholics here may have a new and larger church if tentative plans now under discussion are consummated.

The present church is said to be too small for the growing congregation. It was erected about 1885 and has served continuously since then as a house of worship. The program, in charge of Rev. R. F. Bacher, calls for the removal of the parish house to another site and the erection of the proposed new church in the center of the property.

Music Leader

CINCINNATI, May 28.—Appointment of Mrs. William Medert Taylor of Wilmington as head of the music education section of the Cincinnati College of Music was announced by the college today. Mrs. Taylor is in charge of the music department of Wilmington college, and will begin her new work Sept. 1.

Miss LeNore Corry Is Graduated
At Carrollton With High Honors

Mrs. B. Headley, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Ashed and Robert Curtis last night attended the 55th annual commencement exercises at Carrollton High school when Miss LeNore Corry, niece of Mrs. Headley, was graduated, acting as salutatorian for her class.

Miss Corry, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Crawford of Carrollton, made her home here with Mrs. Headley for several years.

Her outstanding record through four years of high school has brought her offers of scholarships from two Ohio colleges. During her freshman year Miss Corry was chosen to compete in the Carroll county scholarship elimination tests. She ranked first that year in English, repeated in the second year, won second place during her junior term and captured first honors again in her senior year.

In district scholarship elimination competitions at Kent, in which she has participated, she has held second place once and ninth place twice.

STREET SIGNS
TO BE ERECTEDMayor George Harroff, Who Backed Plans, to
'Tack Up' First One

New aluminum street signs, the first to be erected in Salem for many years, will go up at principal street intersections starting Tuesday, Mayor George Harroff announced today.

The mayor himself plans to "tack up" the first sign. Work of manufacturing the signs, which has been in progress at the city garage, West State st., for several months, will end this week.

Besides bearing the names of the streets at each intersection, the signs show the street number at that point.

The signs, which are expected to be welcomed by both local residents and visitors alike, are large enough to be read plainly from a reasonable distance. The aluminum letters, eight inches high, stand out from a black colored background. Installation of the signs will begin on downtown East State st. Practically all the signs will be erected atop a galvanized iron pipe rooted in a cement base. Some signs for downtown streets will be bracketed on light standards, eliminating the need for installation of additional pipes at the intersections which might impede pedestrian traffic.

Mayor Harroff was active in getting the approval of city council to sponsor the street marker project, for which a small federal grant was secured. The city appropriated about $1,000 for its share of expense in the work.

Lewis Will Speak

HANOVERTON, May 28.—Arrangements have been completed for Memorial services here Sunday afternoon in charge of the Lisbon American Legion post. Former State Senator Earl Lewis of St. Clairsville will be the speaker.

Patriotic Units Seek Flowers For Veterans' Graves

Allied patriotic organizations of the city, completing details of the program for Memorial day observance on Monday, today sounded a call for flowers with which to decorate the graves of soldier dead in Salem cemeteries and those in "nearby districts."

Anyone having flowers to give is asked to bring them to the G. A. R. hall as early as possible Monday morning—the hall will be open at 7:30 to receive the bouquets—or donors may call any of the members of the patriotic organizations, who will arrange for their collection.

Rev. Ian Robertson, rector of the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal) has extended allied bodies an invitation to attend Memorial Sunday services there at 11 a. m.

Among the groups who expect to attend are: The Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Union Veterans and auxiliary, Daughters of Union Veterans, American Legion and auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary.

Community Chest workers last night went "over the top" in their 1937 campaign for $17,800 to support and maintain seven civic institutions and organizations.

Checking their figures last night at the Memorial building, team members and officials reported a total of $17,849.70 or $49.70 more than the quota. Following the official count, additional contributions, received today by drive leaders, boosted the total to more than $300 above the quota.

At the conclusion of last night's meeting, the Chest organization unanimously approved the appointment of Henry Hurlbut as general chairman and W. L. Hart as executive committee chairman for the 1938 campaign.

James Wilson's No. 4 team was first in the standing when the figures were checked last night, with teams captained by Atty' Lozier Caplan and Miss Ruth Hoch finishing second and third, respectively, although Miss Hoch's team reported contributions today which would make the final standing exceedingly close.

Brief talks were made by team captains and representatives, including Atty' Caplan, Byron Maxson, Capt. Shannon of the Salvation Army, James Wilson, Miss Hoch, Mrs. Carl Willman and Mrs. Robert Miner.

W. V. Metzger, campaign manager, summarizing the work of the campaign, and touching briefly on the history of preceding campaigns, took occasion to pay tribute to the memory of two former campaign leaders and contributors, the late W. H. Mullins and C. C. Gibson.

Both E. S. Dawson, general chairman, and Andrew MacLeod, executive committee chairman, lauded the work of the team members and extended the thanks of the organization to those who had assisted in making the drive a success.

The seven institutions and organizations which are aided by the drive are the Red Cross, the City hospital, the Memorial building, the Home for Aged Women, the Boy Scouts, Community band and Salvation Army.

Musical during the dinner was provided by a group of band members from the High school, in charge of C. M. Brautigam, band director.

The Community band again provided a surprise feature in the way of musical entertainment, presenting H. Dittman's "Musical Clowns" from Youngstown, in a short program closing the meeting.

Rabbi Joseph Fink Hits Dictators In Kiwanis Address

What is a dictator?
Rabbi Joseph L. Fink of Buffalo, N. Y., who addressed Salem Kiwanis club members at their noon luncheon yesterday in the Memorial building, provided his own definition in an interesting talk in which he discussed European affairs and sounded an appeal for universal peace.

"A dictator," declared Dr. Fink, "is not the most learned man of the nation; he is not the most highly educated; he is not the best lawmaker or administrator—A dictator is the most ruthless man of his nation."

Dr. Fink referred to conditions in Italy and Germany under dictator forms of government and pointed out that while subjects of both Italy and Germany have "bent the knee" ostensibly, yet there are many individuals and groups in both nations courageous enough to protest, citing especially the clergy.

He pointed out how dictatorship had taken control of business out of the hands of capable men so that the government could tell them how many men to employ, how much to pay them, what prices to ask for their products.

He sounded a strong appeal for tolerance, understanding among all peoples and furthering of the brotherhood of man.

PREPARED

The idea seems to be that men shouldn't be permitted to forget that nature always has the upper hand. They always expect too much.

During winter, they look forward to days and days of balmy weather, with every growing thing in its place and every place adorned with some growing thing.

Then, when spring comes, they get days and days of rain, they can't let fires go out, dandelions grow where grass should be, grass grows where nothing should be and nothing appears where something should be.

Whereupon, they look forward to summer, when rain will cease and everything will be warm and completely settled. When summer really comes, though, the temperature usually is too high, there isn't enough rain and there's too much dust. That makes the setting for winter—

But it, too, turns out to be something less than satisfactory. There's too much snow, or not enough, too much cold weather, or not enough.

The fact is, though, that the hopefuls have been hammered into submission for the time being. They don't expect very much any more in the way of a perfect spring, so maybe they'll be satisfied with what they get from now on.

DANDELION CONTROL

Many Ohio highways this time of year, particularly those which never have had the benefit of roadside improvement projects, are a glorification of that American pest, the dandelion. Why this weed flourishes by the side of the road is open to question. That it does flourish there, however, is a conspicuous fact.

The answer probably is that dandelions flourish where they are permitted to flourish. It seems to be the fate of everybody who takes interest and pride in a lawn to discourage them, but the contest is uneven. As long as one dandelion plant remains to spread seed, there will continue to be dandelions everywhere they're not supposed to be.

Would this, perhaps, come under the general heading of agricultural control? There is clearly overproduction of dandelions—a condition of maladjustment. Though not a basic crop, though not even related directly to the problem of erosion control, dandelions might be recognized by the department of agriculture as a major worry.

It would be an excellent way to make millions of citizens who think agricultural aid is something remote from their own interests understand that they, too, have an interest in controlling what grows in the soil.

REAL DISARMAMENT

It may seem a long way from the roaring furnaces of an armament plan to the pedagogic droning of a class in history, but hates born and fed in history classrooms are transmuted into murderous guns and bayonets just as surely as acorns grow to be oak trees.

Therefore, even though disarmament conferences have fallen under a cloud in the world's striving for peace, there is one disarmament conference which deserves praise—and justifies hope. It is the obligatory agreement reached in Paris recently between German and French historians for disarming text books of untruthful statements planted there to grow into fierce hates in the minds of little French and German children.

Perhaps it won't be done; the attempt may not be in perfect faith; politicians may hammer the history instructors into submission; the hates may be too deeply rooted already. But in view of the columns and pages and books which have been printed about destroying guns and battleships already built and about limiting the production of munitions, at least a few paragraphs should be written concerning a movement which could, if given a chance, remove a large part of the motive for tomorrow's Frenchmen and Germans hating each other.

THE STARS SAY :

For Saturday, May 29

The lunar and mutual aspects having influence on the affairs of this day indicate very progressive and profitable conditions, with the energies under fine stimuli and the mental faculties keyed to unusual creative expression. Elements of this creative genius may attract the recognition and support of those in power and authority, making for success and standing in the personal as well as artistic and business affairs.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of advancement, preferment and probably conspicuous recognition for some outstanding initiative or talent of a fine creative order. This enhances the artistic, professional and social life, promising lucrative financial returns as well as high social status. Those able to assist to these advanced high standards in unusual lines or enterprises may be approached with assurance.

A child born on this day may be enterprising, progressive and ambitious, with a talent of unusual scope or expression attracting the support of highly-influential personages. It should have a successful or perhaps conspicuous career.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 28—Thoughts while strolling: The new editor of the Times: Dr. John Finley. The town's greatest walker. Celebrated Coles: Old King, Rex and Russ. Add bantam Brummels: A. C. Blumenthal and Jules Glaesner. Crack reporter of the era: Alva Johnston. What's become of Dashiell Hammett?

Simile: As immaculate as a Floyd Gibbons eye patch. Add minor feminine enthusiasms: Lupe Velez and Martha Raye. Babe Ruth can still make the crowds stand and gape, at the ball aprks. Two incurable rumors: That Will Hays is to lose his job and that Major Bowes is slipping.

Rhyme: For conversational pace, few can top Iika Chase. No. 1 religious phony: Father Divine. How the rich live note: Anne Morgan dines on a banana and glass of skimmed milk once a week and goes to bed at 8:30. Night club cherub: Erskine Gayne. With his dimples.

Chin-chin: Doris Duke and George Gershwin. Torch singers come and go but Ethel Merman still gets my vote. Nothing produces poker faces like tennis: Helen Wills Moody and Helen Jacobs, for instance. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker is graying about the temples, too.

Memory: Scouring steel knives with fine ashes. George Raft has certainly been a boon to the high-waisted pants business. Some day Morris Guest ought to fool his friends and bust out in a derby. They say London is biting its nails over the coronation. It was like buying seats to see a star and seeing an understudy.

Vaudeville die-hards see hope for a revival of their favorite amusement in the popularity of variety programs over the radio. Such as those by Rudy Vallee, Joe Cook, Fred Allen, Fred Astaire, and the like. Many new radio bills now being readied are to stress such acts that used to fill the two-a-day. Thus the enthusiasts believe the younger generation is acquiring a taste for the "spice of variety" and will welcome it, when and if it comes back.

Theatrical producers believe a delayed opening will jinx it—and rather than face the superstition often open a show on schedule, even though they feel certain it is not ready. Ziegfeld's three most costly flops were delayed and the production that bankrupted Charles B. Dillingham was postponed three times. Producers, of course, believe in the rave notices of critics, but favorable reviews are not always unfailing barometers. The approvals the producers seek are those of the ticket agencies. If they regard a play as "a buy" it is usually in the bag for a run. The ticket agents are the boys who back their opinions with cash on the line for choice seats, often for as long as 12 weeks in advance. One of the better agent prognosticators was the late Louis Cohen, a flashily dressed slangy fellow who could not read or write. It was Cohen who coined the expression "good theatre." When he said a show was "good theatre" it was generally in for a run.

I still like to go down to a 34th street department store now and then and gaze upon the tall Dolores-looking girl with a monocle at the Book Information Desk. Nothing lends haughtiness to femininity like a monocle. The first woman monologist I ever saw was a girl at a table in front of Du Dome on Montparnasse. A sommelier told me she was an art student from Galesburg, Ill. and that she had only been in Paris a month.

On that slick and successful whizz known as The Blue Train from Paris to Monte Carlo one day I sat across from a monologist in the diner. When the waiter brought his finger bowl, he flicked his brow and the single glass plinked into the bowl. I tried to hide a grin at what I thought was an accident, but he fished it out, polished it brightly and clapped it in his eye again. It was his way of giving his monologue a morning bath. One learns a lot traveling.

The veteran Daniel Frohman is still corresponding with Mary Anderson. Every few months they exchange letters dealing with news of the old days and some tidings of the new. There are many who do not know that Miss Anderson still lives. She retired from the stage in 1900 at the peak of a career that was as glamorous as that of Mrs. Fiske. She has a son on the stage. Think of a name such as hers sinking into desuetude!

Hoover Requested To Probe Warren Death

ELKINS, W. Va., May 27—J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation was asked today to investigate the death in March at Warren, O., of Claude Louk, 27, of Mill Creek.

The inquiry was requested by Randolph county's two state legislators who said Mrs. Jane Louk told them her son was "murdered and robbed of his first pay check." She asserted three unidentified men crushed Louk's skull and threw him in front of a street car to make the death look accidental.

NERVOUSNESS

ONE OF my readers inquires whether there is any truth in the statement that "nervousness" in a child is a serious affliction. A great deal is written about the diseases of childhood, but too little attention is given to this important condition. It really is a matter of importance. It is advisable that the parent be able to recognize the first signs of nervousness in a young child. Everybody knows that nervousness in an adult acts as a handicap. But few realize that this ailment in the grownup may be traced to neglect in childhood. It is a disorder often entirely overlooked. This is not to be wondered at, because of the absence of pain or other suspicious symptoms during the early stages. But it should always be suspected in a young child who is restless and clumsy and "jerky" in action and movements.

Seek Underlying Cause

Of course, the word "nervousness" is applied to a multitude of disorders. The child may actually be suffering from St. Vitus dance, or chorea, rheumatic fever, enlarged or infected tonsils or some constitutional disturbance.

The victim is easily agitated and upset. The child is unable to play with companions of the same age. At times he has great difficulty at school, being very backward in his studies. He has poor memory and fails to concentrate on his work. Every effort should be made to discover the underlying cause and determine exactly what the trouble really is. This can be determined only by a complete physical examination by a physician. I strongly recommend this procedure, because early recognition of what is wrong and its removal, means rapid recovery and complete cure.

Take Every Precaution

When recognized in its early stages and proper measures of cure are taken, a happy recovery is to be expected. Neglect, or delay in treatment, may lead to certain complications which are more difficult to remove. Regardless of the age of the child, it is important that every possible measure of relief be taken.

Even if the doctor recommends complete rest in bed for several weeks do not neglect to follow his orders. Of course, if the tonsils are enlarged and infected, they should be removed; the same is true of all other centers of infection. The diet should be simple and nutritious, containing an abundance of fresh fruits, vegetables, cereals, butter, eggs and milk. Cod liver oil should be given daily and the child given an abundance of fresh air and sunshine.

Answers to Health Queries

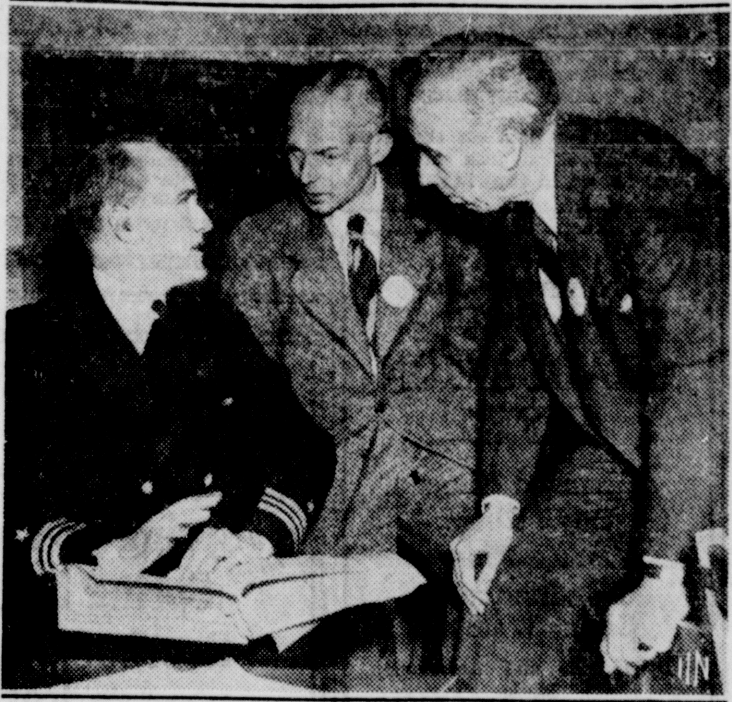

Mrs. V. J. Y. Q.—My little boy, 2 years old, has been troubled with his ear. It gathered and broke and is running. Although the doctor has been attending him it seems to keep the same. What would you advise me to do?

A.—Talk with the physician attending the child. He can best advise you.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

Tables for the dinner were attractively decorated with small flags in bouquets of iris, snowballs and other spring flowers. At each place was a lovely little corsage and gay red, white and blue program. Those in charge, chairmen of the various divisions of the Women's association were: Mrs. T. A. Trees Planted By CCC Commemorate U. S. Constitution

LISBON, May 28—One hundred and thirty trees, one for each member of the CCC unit stationed near Lisbon, recently were planted in front of the old McKinley home on the Boy Scout reservation by members of the corps.
The grove will commemorate the 156th anniversary of the ratification of the U. S. constitution by the states and will be known as "Constitution Grove." A tree also was planted at the camp and will be dedicated Sept. 17, the day the Constitution was presented to the states for ratification 150 years ago.
Similar programs will be undertaken by every CCC camp in the country. Approximately 300,000 trees will be planted for this purpose, the figure representing the total corps enrollment. Public or semi-public land has, in the majority of cases, been designated as grove sites.
Black walnut, red oak, ash, maple and one or two other species comprise the grove planted here. The work was done by the boys on their own time under the supervision of camp authorities and Charles Pelton, scout executive. Nearly every member of the corps participated in the program.
The McKinley home was selected because of its historical significance.
The grandfather of President William McKinley occupied this property a century ago. A short distance from the home are the ruins of an iron furnace over which McKinley presided as foreman. The furnace is said to be the first industry of this nature in the state.
The site is located about a mile from the village near the Sandy and Beaver Canal banks. Several months ago it was made into a scout reservation.

AFOL Drops Strict Craft Union Lines In Fight With CIO

CINCINNATI, May 28 — The American Federation of Labor dropped strict craft union lines today in its fight against John L.
Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Federation leaders still believe workers generally should be organized into the unions of their craft, as opposed to the organization by industry that Lewis advocates.

They decided informally, however, not to let craft lines stand in the way of increasing the membership. The machinists, for instance, are trying to organize all the workers in a number of plants.
A good share of the federation's summer membership campaign will consist of attempts to organize federal unions.

These federal unions, affiliated directly with the A. F. of L. and not linked with any member union, may take in all the workers in a plant or industry. The United Automobile Workers was organized by consolidation of a number of federal unions.

Eventually, the federation expects to divide the newly organized workers among their proper craft unions. Collective bargaining then would be carried on by joint councils of craft union representatives in those plants or industries that employed more than one craft.

A long list of unfinished business still faced the federation's executive council after yesterday's session.

Heading the list was a decision on whether to support the administration wage and hour bill. Most council members privately expressed their disapproval of legislation to fix minimum wages for men.

70,000 ARE IDLE IN STEEL FIGHT

Smoke Clears From Mahoning Valley as Plants Are Shut Down

from Washington was envisioned by an authoritative source as the only chance for a quick break in the five-state strike deadlock.

Declining to be quoted by name, the source in contact with both sides pointed out that the youthful SWOC and independent producers were locked in a conflict over how to proceed to negotiation of a strike settlement.

Await Washington Move.

As the biggest steel strike since 1919 moved into its second day there was no immediate indication from the official that Washington would seek a quick settlement.

For the heat-bronzed idle workers there was some hope that Gov. Martin Davey of Ohio might set the stage for peace negotiations in the SWOC's demands for signed contracts.

The governor revealed at Columbus that he had contacted SWOC leaders in Ohio and executives of Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube in an effort to end the John L. Lewis unit's strike called at plants in Ohio, Illinois, New York, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

"There is good reason to believe," Davey said, "that meetings will be held by the middle of next week."

The John L. Lewis union demanded a contract to represent its members employed in the three concerns' plants. The SWOC aims eventually, Republic and Sheet and Tube said in recent statements, at a closed shop and the check-off system of dues collection under which companies deduct the dues from pay checks and turn them over to the union.

All three have firmly opposed signing of any contract although holding conferences with SWOC chieftains, which, they contend, is all the Wagner act requires.

Can't Rally Planned.

Steel strikers in Ohio's long Mahoning valley where red lettered signs proclaimed "on strike," looked toward Canton where the SWOC planned a show of strength tonight in calling a huge outdoor mass meeting.

Philip Murray, slight, gray chairman of the SWOC, operating from his Pittsburgh headquarters, failed to get a response to an overture to Republic to resume negotiations on a collective bargaining contract. He had sent a telegram to Tom Girdler, Republic board chairman, in New York.

Outlining his stand against SWOC demands, Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., said in a statement to Sheet and Tube employees that a written agreement would be followed by a closed shop and the check-off dues collection system. Purnell described these as "unfair to that great number of employees who desire to conduct their own collective bargaining."

Brady Gang Sought For Killing Police Officer In Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—Alfred Brady, swaggering desperado, and his small band of quick-shooting outlaws continued to elude a far-flung search today, a hunt intensified by Indiana state policemen following the death of their fellow officer, 33-year-old Paul V. Minneman.

Minneman, a state trooper for two years and a bridegroom of only five months, died last night at Logansport from 23 bullet wounds inflicted by guns of the Brady gangsters who ambushed Minneman and a deputy sheriff, Elmer Craig, the deputy, was shot in the foot and chest but is expected to recover.

The state officer's death was the third laid to the hands of the Brady mobsters—Brady, James Doliver and Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr. They also are accused of killing a Piqua, O., grocery clerk and an Indianapolis police sergeant.

The ambush of Minneman and Craig climaxed an automobile chase of the gangsters following the $2,500 robbery of a bank at Goodland, Ind.

The local band, Robert Forbes, Givah Wisler and Thelma Evans, will be making their first public appearance in their new uniforms, just purchased by the band.

Wally And Duke To Make Trip To U. S. During Honeymoon

MONTES, France, May 26—An associate of the Duke of Windsor disclosed today that Edward and Mrs. Wallis Warfield were planning a visit to the United States as a "second honeymoon."

Under arrangements which the abdicated British king and his bride-to-be are considering, the associate said, their stay in the United States would be brief and part of a trip around the world. Edward and the woman for whom he renounced his empire were said to have selected tentatively either October or November for the trip to America, traveling westward from Europe after spending their "first honeymoon" in Austria.

They will be married in the music room of the Chateau De Cand June 3 and will leave shortly afterward by automobile on the trip that is expected to end at Castle Wasserleoneburg in Austria where preparations already have been made to receive them.

Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for Windsor and Mrs. Warfield, acknowledged they might go on a world cruise and visit the United States but added "not in the immediate future."

Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire in "Shall We Dance" at the State theater Sunday through Tuesday.

Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire, the ever popular dance and comedy team, will be seen in their latest romantic adventure, "Shall We Dance?", a highly entertaining bit of film nonsense, at the State Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Rogers is seen as a famous revue star and Astaire as an equally famous ballet master, who learns tap dancing on the side to gain the acquaintance of Miss Rogers. Through a series of amusing and unusual circumstances they find that the world insists on believing them married. In order to be free of each other, they agree to marry and divorce quietly to convince the world of the real situation.

Others in Cast
Others in the excellent cast are Edward Everett Horton, Jerome Cowan, William Brisbane, Eric Blore, Ketti Gallian, Ann Shoemaker and Harriet Hector, world famous ballerina.

"David Harum", with Will Rogers in the leading role, will be seen Wednesday and Thursday in a return engagement at the State theater. The beloved character of Edward Noyes Westcott's story of the same name is sympathetically and delightfully created for the screen by Will Rogers, whose talent for such roles is not forgotten.

Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell have the leading roles in "Night Must Fall", a thrilling, splendidly-done murder mystery gives Robert Montgomery his best role in a long time. The picture is booked for Friday and Saturday at the State.

"A Star Is Born", with Janet Gaynor and Fredric March, concludes.

A feature-length Hal Roach comedy, "Way Out West" brings Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy to the Grand Sunday and Monday in the best of their daffy laugh hits. Sharon Lynne and Rosina Lawrence supply the necessary feminine interest.

Bret Hart's story, "Outcasts of Poker Flat" with Preston Foster and Jean Mar, and "Motor Madness" with Rosalind Keith and Alleen Brook, make up a double bill showing at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday.

Jean Arthur and George Brent are teamed in "More Than A Secretary", which will be seen at the Grand Thursday only. Lionel Stander, Ruth Donnelly, Reginald Denny and Dorothea Kent are seen in supporting roles.

Tim McCoy in "The Lion's Den" will be seen at the Grand for the last time this evening.

QUAKERS SEND EIGHT ATHLETES TO STATE MEET

Harry Cooper And Tony Manero Slated To Meet In P.G.A. Tournament "Natural"

Roelen Among Favorites In Mile Run; Bricker Has Chance In 880-Yard Race

Whitcomb to Carry Quaker Colors In Pole Vault and High Hurdles; Tibbs In Broad Jump; Rest of Squad Entered In Medley, Mile Relays

Eight Salem High school athletes packed grips today to leave for Columbus to compete in the state scholastic track and field meet at Ohio State university stadium tomorrow. The eight Quaker athletes, who will perform in the state meet after qualifying in the northeastern Ohio district competition at Reilly stadium last Saturday, are: Paul Roelen, Bruce Whitcomb, Archie Bricker, Howard Tibbs, Carroll Beck, Joe Morris, Tom Tilley and Harold Culler. Accompanying this squad will be Frederick E. Cope, track coach and faculty manager of Salem High school, Charles Felton of Lisbon and Dean Glass, manager.

On the shoulders of the slim-built, fair-haired Roelen rest the Quakers' chances for major honors in the state competition. Roelen, captain of the Quaker team and state cross country champion, is one of the favorites in the mile run, which he won last week in the district meet in the splendid time of 4 minutes, 33.8 seconds.

The Quaker distance ace will probably encounter his stiffest opposition from Leahy of Cleveland, who ran the mile in 4 minutes, 32.8 seconds at the Lakewood district meet last week.

Whitcomb will carry the Quaker colors in the pole vault and 120 yard high hurdles. He qualified for both of these events in the N. E. O. meet when he won the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet, 3 inches and placed second in the high hurdles, finishing close behind Joe Newman of Youngstown. Whitcomb set a new record of 15 seconds flat in the event.

Bricker is slated to compete in the 880-yard run, the event in which he tied for first with Bajenski of Akron East in district competition. Bricker's time when he ran the dead heat with Bajenski last week was 2 minutes 2.8 seconds. If he can duplicate this mark tomorrow, he stands a good chance of finishing among the leaders.

Tibbs will represent the Quakers in the broad jump. He placed third in this event in the district meet and his best jump of the year, made in the annual Columbiana county meet two weeks ago, is slightly over 21 feet.

The remainder of the squad making the trip to the state capital will run in the mile and medley relays in which Salem finished second and third respectively in the district meet.

Coach Cope did not announce the make-up of his two relay teams, but he will probably run Tibbs, Beck, Tilley and Roelen in the medley event and Morris, Culler, Tibbs and Bricker in the mile chase.

Only athletes and relay teams which finished first, second and third in events in district meets will compete in the state meet. Two Salem athletes—Max Lutsch and Charles Yeager—scored in the district meet but failed to finish in qualifying positions.

Because the Quakers have entries in only seven of the 16 events, they stand little chance of capturing the state team championship. Cleveland East, defending champion, is favored to retain its title.

The state meet will complete Salem High's track and field competition for the 1937 season. During the campaign, the Quakers competed in six meets, not including the state event, won five of these and lost one. Their victories were in dual meets with Youngstown Raven and Niles a triangular meet with Boardman and Lisbon; the eighth annual Salem High school Night Relays and the Columbiana county meet.

Their lone defeat came in the district meet when they were nose out by Akron Garfield by one point, 39½ to 38½.

COLUMBIANA HI AFTER RECORD

Crack Relay Team Seeks to Break Half-Mile State Mark

COLUMBIANA, May 28. — Columbiana High school's record-breaking half-mile relay team will attempt to lower the Ohio scholastic mark in the annual state meet at Columbus tomorrow.

Members of the relay quartet, Dewayne Anglemeyer, Richard Fisher and the Enright twins, Bob and Bill, will also compete in other events.

Since the local team scored 74 points last week in winning the district Class B title for the third successive year, it is conceded an excellent chance of capturing the state title. Upper Arlington is generally considered as the chief rival in Class B.

Coach Waldo Ward will also take Manchester, Robert Culp and Manager Walter Holloway along on the trip.

Manchester qualified for the meet by taking third places in the shot put and discus throw, while Culp took a third in the high jump. A number of parents of team members and other fans are planning to make the trip. The team left early this morning and will return Saturday night.

MICKEY HOLDS OWN IN FIGHT FOR HIS LIFE

Cochrane's Condition Is "Unchanged"; Fear Paralysis

NEW YORK, May 28. — Mickey Moehane, fighting the greatest battle of his life, held his own today against the injuries that sent him to a hospital after he was felled by a pitched ball in the Tiger-Yankee game, Tuesday.

While reporting the condition of the fiery leader of the Tigers as "unchanged," after he had showed improvement early yesterday, the attending physicians emphasized that he still was in a very serious condition.

Fear was expressed that meningitis might develop within the next four or five days in which case complications might lead to paralysis. For the first time since he was moved to the hospital after one of Irving (Bump) Hadley's pitches fractured his skull, Cochrane was permitted a visitor other than his wife, yesterday. The visitor was Cy Perkins, coach of the Tigers, who informed Cochrane that his Tigers had beaten the Yanks, 5 to 4 in 13 innings, for the only Detroit victory of the three-game series.

News of the triumph brought a smile to "Iron Mike's" tired mouth.

LAKERS FACING BUSY WEEKEND

Three Games Planned for Placencia Team Sunday and Monday

Three games have been scheduled for Lake Placencia's baseball club over Memorial day weekend with the Massillon Pinefrocks appearing at the lake diamond Sunday and the Minerva Eagles invading the park for a double-header Monday.

The Sunday game will start at 2:30 p. m., while the first game of the double bill Memorial day will get under way at 1:30 p. m. Both the Massillon and Minerva clubs boast good-playing teams and are expected to furnish the Lakers with their stiffest competition of the season. Willis Schopfer, Johnny Eells and Johnny Hrovatic will probably cover the pitching assignments for Placencia in the three games.

SHARON TRACK OPENS MONDAY

Eight-Event Program to Start Season at Speedway

SHARON, Pa., May 28.—Sharon speedway, nearby half mile dirt automobile race track, opens its seventh year on Monday, with an eight-event program in which an all-star field will compete.

Everett Saylor, Dayton, who recently set a new world's record for half-mile dirt, being timed in 22.3 at Greenville, heads the field. Every indication is that Saylor will break the local mark of 25.6 held by Bud Henderson of Akron.

Red Campbell, Indianapolis, 1936 champion of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana, Gail Lower, Ft. Wayne, winner this year at Winchester, Ind.; Al Schlosser, Dayton; Jimmy Jarluso, Pittsburgh; Joe Catone, Struthers, Jack Russell, Greenville, Pa.; Jerry Jerome and Paul Williamson, Akron; Al Bonnell, Erie, Pa.; Duke Dinsmore, who moved to Dayton from California after his successful 1936 campaign; Fred Moebis, Detroit, and at least 10 others are expected.

As an added attraction there will be two special races for slower cars piloted by drivers who are breaking into the game this year. These events, over 15 and 10 laps, will be followed by a 30 lap feature for the nine drivers who finish 1-2-3 in three 10 lap qualifying dashes.

Qualifying starts at 11 a. m. and the main program at 2:30 p. m. (E. S. T.).

Sharon oval, which is this section's only dirt proof track, is located six miles from Sharon, eight miles from Warren, and 12 miles from Youngstown.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Farmers of San Diego had their best year in history in 1936, R. R. McLean, county agricultural commissioner, reported. The crops of the county during 1936 were valued at $22,174,964, with citrus fruits contributing nearly a fourth of the total.

OPEN CHAMPION TAKES ON HARD LUCK LINKSMAN

Manero to Face Golfer He Defeated in National Open Play

PITTSBURGH, May 28. — The professionals championship today provided the match golf has wanted for a long time. Harry Cooper against Tony Manero.

The hard-luck guy of the links faced the fellow who came out of nowhere to nude him out of the National Open championship last summer.

Cooper had fired pars and birdies over Baltusrol's rugged course for a 284, lowest total in history, a performance that bettered the long standing Chick Evans-Bob Jones' 286 record.

But with dusk came Manero, riding a flock of birdies and shepherded by the veteran Gene Sarazen. He banged putts in with a magic wand and Harry's hopes collapsed under Tony's marvelous 282.

If Harry wasn't a golf fatalist before, he became one then.

player in his class, but he's never been able to win a major title. Some folk just aren't lucky. Harry lost a playoff for the open crown 10 years ago. Two years back he rode a rainstorm in with a spectacular score in the important Augusta Masters' tournament, only to have Horton Smith come in later with a dry coat and a lower total. And he can't play on Uncle Sam's Ryder cup team because, although he's a product of American golf, the birth certificate shows he was born in England.

He probably wondered when he started out this morning whether it would be Manero again, or another fellow this time, who'd blast his hopes. This is the first time he's ever gone as far as the fourth round in the PGA duels.

Hubbell Sticks Out Chin But He's Still Chalking Up Victories For Giants

King Carl Riding on 24th Straight Pitching Victory After Doing Relief Work for Two Innings; Giants Trail Pirates by One Game

Carl Hubbell, who thinks he's lucky to have piled up the longest winning streak in baseball history, is sticking out his chin now.

From all indications, he's not only going right on with his streak, but he's going to do it the hard way—against the toughest opponents and in the toughest spots.

King Carl was riding on his 24th straight triumph today, four better than the previous all-time high. Since he passed the 20-game mark, every win has been achieved either at the expense of the National League's lustiest batters or in a situation that would undoubtedly have put the moundman in a less masterful whammy on May 13 and last Monday.

Between May 13 and last Monday, he whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates twice and the St. Louis Cardinals once, an accomplishment that's not to be sneezed at in any pitcher, whether he's on a winning streak or just earning his pay the easy way. Yesterday, only three days after beating the Bucs for the second time, he ambled into the stadium of the Giants' go with Cincinnati Reds, and found a club that already had sent two giant pitchers to the showers, was on its home lot with the score tied, and had a pitcher in there in young Lefty Grooms who was anything but a pushover for the Giants.

So Carl faced just six men in two innings, and made all of them strangers as far as first base was concerned. The final score was 3-2, with Mel Ott's ninth-inning homer turning the trick for Hubbell and the Giants.

The victory boosted the Giants to within a game of the pace-setting Pirates, whose tilt with the Dodgers was rained out after 3½ innings. The third-place Cardinals dropped further back by losing an 8-7 battle of homers to the Boston Sox with Roy Johnson's two-run pinch four-bagger in the eighth, putting the game on ice.

Detroit's Tigers finally caught up with the New York Yankees and, in the American League's longest game of the season, finished on top 6-4 in 13 innings, despite Lou Gehrig's three-run homer. The Cleveland Indians made a clean sweep of their series with the Athletics by registering an 8-7 win on Hal Trosky's triple with the bases loaded.

The day's best full-length pitching efforts were turned in by Bucky Walters, the Phillies' converted infielder, and Monte Weaver, Washington's curve-baller. Walters fanned four and allowed nine hits as the Phils smashed the Chicago Cubs 11-2. Weaver let the White Sox down with half a dozen safeties and the Senators came through 2-1. The Browns-Red Sox tilt at Boston was rained out.

DRIVERS FIGHT FOR POSITIONS

One Qualifying Post In Auto Race Still to Be Filled

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28.—The fight isn't over for places in the starting lineup of the Indianapolis motor speedway's 500-mile race Monday.

Theoretically, only one unfilled position in the field of 33 allowed to start the race each year remained. Four drivers qualified their roaring speedsters yesterday to bring the list of eligibles up to 32.

But under speedway rules, it will be the 33 fastest cars which tear

HIGH ATHLETES IN STATE MEET

Schoolboy Track, Baseball Stars Compete In Columbus

COLUMBUS, May 28.—Baseball games opened the 30th annual state high school track and field meet today, followed by track, golf and tennis competition. The meet will continue through Saturday.

Paired in Class A baseball were Columbus West vs. East Cleveland Shaw, Canton McKinley vs. Cincinnati Withrow, Greenfield vs. Tiltonville and Toledo Waite vs. Bedford. The Class B games were Navarre vs. Terrace Park, Troy Elizabethtown vs. Thurston, Holgate vs. Glouster and Pemberville vs. Yorkville.

Cleveland East Tech, Class A defending track champion, qualified eight men and two relay teams, indicating an uphill fight if it is to repeat last year's victory.

Oberlin had 10 men and three relay teams qualified for the Class B events, its title going on the block under spirited competition from Upper Arlington and Columbiana.

Dayton Fairview was defending golf champion, but its team's scores were bettered by five other entries in qualifying meets.

Canton, Portsmouth Tied In M.-A. Loop

COLUMBUS, May 28.—Canton and Portsmouth were tied today for second place in the Mid-Atlantic baseball league through Canton's 8-3 defeat by Dayton and three rain-postponed games.

Rained out were Springfield at Zanesville, Charleston at Akron and Portsmouth at Johnstown.

Canton and Portsmouth each has won 10 and lost seven games. The loop leading Springfield Indians have won 13 and lost five.

REFUGIO, Tex.—Two years ago Mrs. Fred Hamilton borrowed a hen and a nest of eggs. Through an agreement with neighbors from whom she borrowed the fowl and the eggs, she kept the hen constantly setting. Today she has 75 laying hens, 74 baby chicks, six more hens ready to bring off new broods, supplies eggs and chickens for family consumption and sells several dozen eggs a week.

RACING RIVALS CONTINUE FEUD

War Admiral, Pompoon to Meet Tomorrow at Latonia Track

COVINGTON, Ky., May 28.—Manager Russell Sweeney of Churchill Downs-Latonia, Inc., predicted today 12,000 racing fans would be on hand tomorrow for the running of the annual inaugural handicap at Latonia track.

Twenty-three thoroughbreds are entered, of which Racing Secretary Larry Bogenschutz said there probably would be 13 starters for the mile and one-sixteenth grind.

War Admiral, winner of the Derby and the Preakness, and Pompoon, who ran second to the son of Man O' War in both races, were scheduled for their third major competition this year. If War Admiral should win, he would bring his owner, Samuel D. Riddle, an extra $5,000 as a two-derby winner.

Reaping Reward, who followed Pompoon across the Kentucky Derby finish line to show, was among the prominent entries in the Latonia Derby for which there are 51 nominations.

The Derby is scheduled for the sixth race of the day.

66th

Anniversary

STARTING TUESDAY, JUNE 1st

with Value-giving more greatly to your advantage than we believe has ever before been possible . . . For not only does the Kaufmann Anniversary lower prices, as it always does, you know (—something of a miracle in itself this year). But your dollar's worth is greater because of more style-rightness—more of scientifically proven better quality in the merchandise, much of it having been made to the better quality specifications prescribed by our Industrial Fellowship at Mellon Institute.

But the Kaufmann Anniversary is more than a special selling event. It's a great show. An exposition of Progress. You'll want to be early to see its talked-about features.

SALEM GETS RID OF CORNS

In the past three weeks thousands of Salem men and women have ended their corn and callous troubles with END-O-CORN. No matter how many so-called "corn cures" you have tried, if you still have your corns, go to the J. H. Lease Drug Co. or any other GOOD druggist and get END-O-CORN. Use tonight. Tomorrow all right. It cannot fail. How many times have you said, "I'd give $10 to get rid of that pesky corn"? END-O-CORN is worth $50, but costs only 50c.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

If you are troubled with common constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I used to feel poorly all the time—just down and out. After reading an advertisement about ALL-BRAN, I got a box. It has helped me ever since." Miss Mary Bundy, Bennettsville, S. C.

Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings "bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to tone up the intestinal tract.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water. This soft mass gently clears the intestines in a safe, natural way—without any of the weakening action of pills and drugs.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—with every meal in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or fruits, or cook into recipes. Remember—ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Rich Cargoes" by Henry C. Rowland

Sandy stepped to the edge of the terrace and blew his boat siren, his first thought being naturally to get Isobel to a place of safety, aboard his yacht. There came instantly from out on the dark water the flash of a blinker, acknowledging his signal. The next moment they heard Vinkers' voice call out with a sort of harsh contempt:—"What sort of show's being put on now?"

"Go down to the pier," Sandy said to Isobel. "Call to the quarter-master to land all hands, with whatever firearms they can muster. I'll see what's up."

He stepped inside the house and started through to the other side. Isobel, disregarding his instructions, followed. Vinkers, followed by the three others, came after them.

"You women go down to the front," Vinkers said, calmly enough. "Crewe and I will hold them off until his crowd gets here." Evidently his idea and Sandy's of what was threatened was the same.

But the women declined to retreat. The entire party of six went to the doorway and out onto the flagging in front of it. The next moment they discovered their anticipations to be groundless, and that there was no hostility threatened. A dozen and odd of the torch-bearers had come round the bend when there appeared the ponderous and majestic bulk of Mouse, ambulating in stately fashion, with Mike in his capacity of mahout. The hunting howdah, open with a guard rail was set on Mouse's back and therein disposed, immaculately dressed in white and with his big pith helmet, sat Colonel Carlton. The august goat, Murphy trotted sedately at the elephant's heels. At either side and in the rear were more torchbearers.

Vinkers gave a short explosive laugh. "My hat. It's the Rajah returning in state, with his full corps of retainers."

Sandy did not join in Vinkers' mirth. He was in the grip of a fearful doubt that came near to being a conviction. Of all the mad performances to happen since his arrival on the island this seemed the maddest, most grotesque. Colonel Carlton's mind must certainly be badly off its balance, he now felt obliged to admit. The exodus of servants, it appeared, had not been through superstitious fear or at the instigation of a papalot, but the result of orders issued by the master, who now had reassembled them to escort his return in this crazy spectacular fashion.

At any rate, whatever the idea, this invasion of the premises was conducted in orderly fashion. The vanguard marched up quietly, passed the big doorway and at an order from the Colonel halted. Mouse likewise was brought to a stop opposite the entrance. The Colonel, from his hunting howdah, beamed down benevolently upon the bewildered group. No trace of embarrassment marred the serenity of his dominant but kindly face. There was more than that; some thing of which the group clustered at the foot of the long low steps felt but failed to grasp as they looked up at him wonderingly. Or perhaps, grasping it in part respectively, they were unable to accept. The Colonel's countenance held a profundity of thought, the expression of a very great philosopher as he contemplates the subject of his philosophy and ponders on how best to apply his knowledge of it, or a physician, a healer who desires to bring the fullest capacity of his knowledge to a cure.

One fact at least reached through to their minds; that the Colonel surveying them magnificently as a monarch on a huge throne of living flesh was no longer bizarre. Majesty clothed him, and it was not the mere ponderous majesty of the brute beast that carried him. It was the preponderant impress of a superior mind, compared to which their own more childish intelligences seemed trivial.

Vinkers nudged Sandy, as if they had been pals instead of the deadly enemies of the past few hours. "My word, Crewe," he muttered, "what's happened him?"

"Jugernaut incarnate," Sandy answered in the same low tone.

"Well, you'd say he saw a yogi or adept or something, instead of a colossal old fraud. All the same he gets my goat."

Vinkers' voice was scarcely audible, even to Sandy close beside him. But it seemed as if the Colonel had heard, for he looked their way and said quietly in his deep resonant voice:—"Never rush at a conclusion, my dear Guy. Better to await it with an open mind."

He raised himself a little and said more loudly to the silent Negroes:—"That is all, good people. Put out your torches and go to your quarters. You men here beside me, stick your torches in the sand."

In the same subdued silence the Negroes obeyed so that the effect was suddenly changed from the majestic figure on the elephant in the center of a concourse in a blaze of lurid light to the same figure illumined brightly by six torches stuck in the sand and empty blackness all about. It was as if the wide field of vision embracing the whole spectacle had been focussed suddenly on the central figure alone, to make it larger and more distinct. The light from six torches was not very bright, but their position was effective, placed as they were like joss-sticks round an idol.

"Another coup-de-theatre," Vinkers murmured.

"Don't try to tell me he was ever knave or fool," she muttered. "This is no folie de grandeur. It's the real thing. Don't you see?"

"I do," Sandy answered. "Wait. Don't interrupt."

The Colonel continued to regard them in the same thoughtful contemplation. Then Isobel said soothingly:—"Since you've come back to stay with us, Uncle, why not get down?"

"We've no end enjoyed your torch light procession, Daddy dear—once we saw they weren't coming to cut our throats and burn the palace," Hester's tone was mocking, sounded blasphemous to Sandy who was still under the peculiar spell from which the two women had slipped out.

"I have come back to put my house in order," said the Colonel, quietly. "If I chose to go into retirement for thirty-six hours, that is entirely my own affair. Everybody would profit by such periods of undisturbed reflection. The native misunderstanding my withdrawal. They have been devoted to me from the start, and thought I was being persecuted. These primitives are sensitive to violent emotions, even when suppressed. They came to me tonight with their torches begging that I return, and not lurk in a cavern like a fugitive. So I came. This demonstration was not of my planning. Now that I have come, I shall stay. But one thing I insist upon. There shall be no more deceit. It is true that I started it. Or rather, I carried on with a deception imposed upon me two years ago under penalty of losing what I most valued and still value. The happiness and companionship of Isobel."

"Your own honor and dignity is too great a price to pay for my happiness, Uncle. No lasting good ever came of lies, even when they don't find one out."

"That is true, my dear. Common knowledge. I wished merely to wait until your conditions of life might be such that my denouement would not so greatly matter. I hoped, still hope, that this time has come. Whether that is so or not, you have now got to hear the truth."

"I'd rather you told me in private, Uncle."

"It is better that I should tell you here and now in the presence of Mr. Crewe and of these others, so that there be no question of anything withheld in my statement. If there is anything to be challenged or denied, now is the time. There are certain facts unknown to Vinkers and his associates, and of which I have documentary proofs here in my hand." He reached down and drew from a pannier in the hunting howdah a long scroll box of tin, enameled in pale green.

Isobel said passionately:—"I don't care what they know or think they know. I'm perfectly well aware that they are not what they pretend to be, but a band of cheap frauds come here to blackmail you. They are not entitled to any place in this interview at all."

"All the same they are, my dear, because in some respects I am a good deal of a fraud myself. But I never was a cheap one. Until I saw things differently about ten years ago, I was, perhaps, the greatest disturber of the peace in all this wide world of ours. There is no name for the sort of Devil's field that in time I became. My field of commerce was the battlefield of little wars; revolutions, raids, tribal uprisings and rebellions fought out on land and sea. I established agencies the world over, the running of arms and munitions and sometimes here the chance of success seemed assured. I financed hostilities and financed them. As an active belligerent in the field, or at sea, I have held commands as a General officer, a Colonel, Captain and even Admiral. For many years I was at the core of the 'Trouble in the Balkans,' and I was the secret malady of 'The Sick Man of Europe,' the Grand Turk. The syndicate of which I was the Chief Executive and head, planted depots of smuggled arms the world over, in the East Indies and in the West, the Caribbean, Central America, Ireland, Africa, North and South, Indo-China, Mongolia to the Great Chinese Wall, Russia, the Balkans and Asia Minor. I planted my Dragons Teeth all over the globe, and many times took an active part in the reaping of their harvest."

The Colonel paused and looked at Vinkers with a profound melancholy. "This man's father was my First Field Aide. He exceeded his authority, turned several of my coupe-de-guerre into forthright banditries and piracies. I forgave him, then finally when he persisted in disregarding orders, broke him. He turned on me, as I had expected, and was crushed. But I felt myself in a sense responsible for having given him too free a hand."

"You sent him into a trap, Colonel," Vinkers said.

The Colonel eyed him somberly. "A trap of his own setting and baiting. I merely shifted the locality. I should do the same again today. When your war dogs are no longer obedient to the horn, they should be killed. Also before they stray to breed snapping mongrels to bite the hand that feeds them. I have something to say presently to you."

Vinkers did not answer. The Colonel recovered his calm, for the moment ruffled. He glanced about at the others, then continued in the same dispassionate narrative voice:—"The traces of my operations were obliterated as I went along. I took care that there were never any incriminating documents. Filibustering on such a scale as mine was penal only when one was caught. Extradition for it did not exist. Today, if I were to make such a deposition as this, I should not be believed. Nobody would take me seriously. The finding in my case would be precisely the same as your own at this moment, that I must be the victim of senile dementia, paresis, delusions of grandeur, and that I ought to be in an asylum. My story would be dismissed with a smile and a shrug as that of the brain-softened old imbecile that most certainly I am not. If I'm an idiot at all then I was born and have always been precisely the same sort of one you find me now. Others have sometimes thought the same thing, to their cost. In fact, at one time of my adventurous career I was known as 'The Mad Rajah of the Banda Sea.'"

Death Decides a Swimmer's Bet

George F. Spread, 39, made a bet that he could swim the turbulent Merrimack River at Lowell, Mass. He was carried by the current, wedged between two rocks, and drowned. Coast Guard surfman Robert H. Westcott, of the Newburyport station, is shown, in this remarkable picture, in a breeches buoy. He had fired 500 feet of rope with a hawser gun, lowered himself to the rocks, tied a rope around Spread's body and hauled it to shore.
